Alliant Health Solutions Honored as a “Best Place to Work” for 2025

(ATLANTA) – Alliant Health Solutions (AHS), a nonprofit organization committed to enhancing the quality, safety, and service of healthcare, proudly announces its recognition as one of the “2025 Best Places to Work” by the Atlanta Business Chronicle for the 14th time in 17 years. Additionally, AHS has secured its position as one of the “2025 Healthiest Employers,” marking the fifth consecutive year of this esteemed accolade.

In the rankings, Alliant placed 5th among Atlanta’s Healthiest Employers and 14th among the Best Places to Work. The Healthiest Employer award evaluates over 60 questions and more than 600 data points to ensure comprehensive benchmarking. The Best Places to Work honor is determined through a confidential employee survey that measures workplace environment, engagement, and trust in leadership.

“This recognition is a testament to the incredible culture we’ve built at Alliant. We are proud to foster an environment where our employees feel valued, supported, and empowered to make a difference in healthcare,” said Dennis White, AHS president and CEO.

Margot Townsend, AHS chief human resources officer, added, “We are grateful for the 2025 recognition, which highlights our team's collective efforts in addressing well-being and engagement. We deeply appreciate this honor and remain committed to continually improving culture and work to best meet the needs of our employees, customers, and the business.”
